Description: The fellowship program began in July 1993 and has been accredited since 1998. A full range of surgical and nonsurgical modes of therapy are practiced. Fellows will receive extensive training in laparoscopic, robotic, vaginal, and abdominal surgical approaches. The fellowship includes formalized rotations in both Female Urology and Colorectal surgery. A formal research and methodology curriculum is in place, and fellows also have the opportunity to pursue other research training through the Division of Research. The Division of Urogynecology also hosts an advanced Pelvic Floor Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation Program, in which fellows actively participate. The Center for Women's Surgery is the Urogynecology and Reconstructive Pelvic Surgery Division of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology of Women and Infants Hospital of RI. Women & Infants Hospital is a free standing women's hospital dedicated to Obstetrics and Gynecology with approximately 9000 deliveries per year, and a comparable number of major and minor gynecologic procedures; fellowships in all other major OBGyn subspecialties are also in place. Urogynecology fellows do not cover Obstetrics or general Gynecologic services or call. Our fellowship program seeks highly competitive candidates who are interested in pursuing academic careers

Other Degrees or Curricula Offered: Additional training may be available through institutional grant funding; this will be assessed on a case-by-case basis. It is our intention that the formal research curriculum within the fellowship itself will equip fellows for the most rigorous and productive academic careers
