

Fellowship Program Name: Drexel University College of Medicine, Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery

Fellowship Coordinator: Teresa Robinson

Address: 245 N. 15th Street, MS 495 Room 16121, 16th Floor - NCB Philadelphia, PA 19102-1192

Phone: 215-762-8220 and Fax: 215-762-1470

E-mail: kristene.whitmore@drexelmed.edu and teresa.robinson@drexelmed.edu

Description: The objective of the Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery Fellowship at DUCOM is to provide superiorly trained physicians in FPMRS who will excel in all aspects of the field including comprehensive surgical and medical care, clinical and basic science research, and teaching.

Requirements: Clinical training will provide an extensive experience in the clinical care of patients with incontinence, prolapse, pelvic pain, and sexual dysfunction. Surgical experience will include pelvic floor reconstruction for urinary incontinence, prolapse and pelvic pain.

Program Length: Two Years for Urology, Three Years for OB/GYN

Number of Fellows: 3

Fellowship Program Director: Kristene Whitmore, MD

Urogynecology Faculty: The core faculty will consist of the program director Kristene Whitmore, MD who is chair of Urology and FPMRS as well as professor of urology and OB/GYN. Cynthia Hall, MD is a clinical professor of OB/GYN and provides clinical supervision at Hahnemann University Hospital. Tim McKinney, MD (clinical professor of OB/GYN) and Elizabeth Babin, MD (clinical assistant professor of OB/GYN) provide clinical supervision at Athena Women's Medical Group and Kennedy Memorial Hospital. Babak Vakili, MD (clinical associate professor), Howard Goldstein, DO (clinical assistant professor), and Emily Saks, MD (adjunct assistant professor) are fellowship-trained urogynecologists providing clinical supervision at Center for Urogynecology and Pelvic Surgery and Christiana Care Health System.

Application Process: ERAS