Description: The fellowship in Female Pelvic Medicine and Reconstructive Surgery at Magee-Womens Hospital of UPMC and the University of Pittsburgh is designed as a three-year curriculum for individuals who have completed an ACGME-accredited residency training in obstetrics and gynecology or urology. The ideal candidate for this fellowship program will be an individual with a strong interest in pursuing a career in academic Urogynecology to include excellence and leadership in education, research, and patient care.

The curriculum is designed to provide broad training and experience in clinical care and research for women with pelvic floor disorders. Clinical rotations include inpatient and outpatient urogynecology, urology, and gastroenterology. Surgical approaches to pelvic floor disorders include abdominal, vaginal, and laparoscopic procedures.

Program Length: 3 years

Number of Fellows: 4 - - We take 2 fellows and then 1 fellow for the next two years (2/1/1). On the year that we take 2 fellows, they both move simultaneously through the program at the same PGY level.

Application Deadline: March 1 – All required materials are due to be considered for an interview.

Interviews: There are two interview dates held in April/May.

Application Process: We participate with the Electronic Residency Application Service (ERAS) on the December application cycle. Applicants may begin applying and programs begin receiving applications starting December 1. As part of the online ERAS application, please be sure to include three letters of recommendation with one from the department chair and one from the residency program director at your current institution along with a current photo (head/shoulder). You must also register with the National Resident Match Program (NRMP) @ www.nrmp.org to participate in the Match.

In addition to your ERAS application: We require all CREOG in-service examination score sheets from all years taken to be emailed directly to the program coordinator at klazar@mwri.magee.edu.
